"As a large inner city primary school aspiring to achieve ever better end of KS2 outcomes we have found the ideas in [Sparky Teaching's resources] to be refreshing and inspirational for our year six pupils.

The approaches, worksheets and ideas have been used both by my upper key stage two staff and with my booster group pupils with whom I work once a week.

As a long serving Headteacher and ex-Ofsted inspector I am always interested in new approaches to the endless and increasing burden of government assessments and can recommend these publications to add to the battery of pre-assessment preparation in any primary school."
